PHYSICIAN MARKETING – DISEASE STATE MARKETING PRESENTATION LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Hearing Healthcare Specialists will understand the importance of establishing a physician marketing program that focuses on the priorities of Disease State Marketing in primary care physician's offices, so that they may develop meaningful patient care partnerships with physician's, which seek to minimize impairment and maximize function in the deaf and hard of hearing patient.
- Hearing Healthcare Specialists will more readily recognize major co-morbidities that are associated with an increased risk, increased prevalence, and increased severity of hearing loss in the deaf and hard of hearing patient. The benefits are that by implementing an "Educate to Obligate®" communication strategy, physicians can more effectively practice preventive care in this important patient population, improve outcomes, and lower the cost of care, while more hearing impaired patients may enjoy an improved quality of life.
- Hearing Healthcare Specialists will understand the reasons why making the "Total Office Call" is necessary for productive communication between the audiology provider and the physician's offices. The physician, the nurse/medical assistant, the receptionist, and the office manager must all be included in our efforts to bridge the gap between what they currently know about the patient with hearing loss, and what they need to know, so that more patients receive the hearing care they need. The reason why is because each staff member either directly, or indirectly influences the quality of the patients care, and thus outcomes.
- While key account management strategies, and face to face communication are the most desirable means of establishing peer to peer relationships, multichannel marketing strategies that include placing video streaming in physicians waiting rooms educates patients while they wait, about co-morbidities and hearing loss, (high volume test-with-loss patient types) in selected high potential primary care physicians waiting rooms. Patient education brochures about the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of the disease state of hearing loss are also placed in physician approved patient education areas. The objective is to educate the patients about risk factors associated with hearing loss so that they are motivated to ask their physicians about their own symptoms, and thus a referral to the audiology sponsor of the video is generated. These videos and patient education brochures represent the audiology clinic, engage and educate the patient, so that self-referrals are also generated. It is like delegating the responsibility to promoting your clinic to a high quality video and/or patient education brochure, in between the hearing healthcare provider/representative's own calls on a physician's office.
- An exciting, convenient, and proven new Physician Marketing service in 2018 will be offered by Bob Tysoe of Hearing Healthcare Marketing Co. Bob Tysoe of HHMC will provide three days of on-site training, plus 30 Days of Physician Marketing Program implementation. He will make in-person calls on primary care physicians in the customers marketplace, promoting the hearing healthcare providers practice locations, along with the designated "physician liaison", (if appointed). If a "physician liaison" has not been hired, he will intensively market the practice services, using "key account management" strategies. Assistance will be provided with the development of market-ready messaging and quality promotional literature. Defining the market, segmenting the priority physicians into workable itineraries, and the creation of solution oriented strategies are included services.
